UNITED STATES' MOTION IN LIMINE REGARDING CROSS-EXAMINATION OF U.S. SECRET SERVICE WITNESS

The United States of America moves to limit the cross-examination of witnesses with the Secret Service Agency, pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 401, 403, and 611(b).

INTRODUCTION

Defendant Edward Jacob Lang is charged in a multi-count Superseding Indictment. ECF 36. Three of those counts are relevant to this motion. First, in Count Eight, the Superseding Indictment charges Lang with violating 18 U.S.C. § 231 by obstructing, impeding, and interfering with, or attempting to obstruct, impede, or interfere with, law enforcement officers during the breach of the United States Capitol on January 6, 2021. ECF 36:5.

Additionally, in Count Ten, the Superseding Indictment charges that Lang, in violation of 18 U.S.C § 1752(a)(2) and (b)(1)(A), and during the breach of the United States Capitol on January 6, 2021, knowingly, and with intent to impede or disrupt the orderly conduct of Government business and official functions, engaged in disorderly or disruptive conduct in, or within proximity of, any restricted building or grounds, when such conduct did in fact impede or disrupt Government business and official functions, and while Lang used and carried a dangerous weapon during and in relation to the offense. ECF 36:5-6. Count Eleven charges that in violation of 18 U.S.C § 1752(a)(4) and (b)(1)(A), Lang knowingly engaged in any act of physical violence against any the Vice President and his family implicates sensitive information related to that agency's ability to protect high-the larger of the Executive branch and, by extension, national security. Thus, the government seeks an

      3 exploring the topics identified above will not infringe his Confrontation Clause right because those topics are not relevant to an element at issue in the case, provide no basis for impeaching the Secret Service witness, and do not implicate any affirmative defense. II. Cross-Examination of Secret Service Witnesses Should Be Limited to Whether the Capitol was Restricted on January R. COLON Fig. 12 Notes to their Functions To prove the charges, the government intends to offer limited testimony about the Secret Service's protection of certain officials on January 6, 2021. First, to establish a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 231(c)(3), the government must prove, among other thirtight and a will this day in the stability protected from 12 to 12 United States v. Retaffeather, 392 F. Supp. 916, 918-19 (D. S.D. 1975). A "federally protected function" includes any lawful function, operation, or action by a federal agency or officer. 18 U.S.C. § 232(3). Thus, the government must prove that the January 6 breach interfered with a federal agency or federal officer's performance of lawful duties. To meet this element, the government intends to offer the testimony that pursuant to authority under 18
      U.S.C. § 3056(a)(1), on January 6, 2021, Secret Service agents were at the Capitol to protect Vice President Mike Pence and two members of his immediate family.1 A Secret Service official is further expected to explain how the events at the Capitol on that date affected the Secret Service's ability to protect Vice President Pence and his family. To prove Counts Ten and Eleven, which charge violations of § 1752(a)(2) and (4), the government must prove that the Capitol and its grounds were "restricted" because the Vice 4 President and his family were present there and being protected by the Secret Service. 1 See 18 U.S.C. § 1752(c)(1)(B) (defining restricted buildings and grounds). Cross-examination of Secret Service witnesses about extraneous matters beyond the scope of direct examination should be excluded as irrelevant or unduly prejudicial. But the Secret Service's general protocols about relocation for safety should be excluded as irrelevant because such evidence does not tend to make a fact of consequence more or less probable the Reflection 403/(defining relevant evidence). Similarly, evidence of the nature of Secret Service protective details is not relevant in this case. The number or type of assigned agents on a protective detail does not alter the probability that the Capitol and its grounds were restricted at the time. None of the other elements to be proven, or available defenses, implicates further testimony from the Secret Service. Even assuming the evidence to be excluded is marginally relevant, such relevance is substantially outweighed by the danger of confusion of the issues, mini-trials, undue delay, and waste of the See Shited states with harmfield, 410 Ft supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and an arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and an arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and an arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and an arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and an arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and an arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main and arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. 128 $13,598 (8. b) can 2065) (main arminimal for the supp. information having broader national security concerns can be excluded under Rule 403 because its tendency to A ponfuse the issues mislead the jury of ate (side issues preaminity in the prejudice that ness) with substantially outweighs any probative value). Delaware v. Van Arsdall, 475 U.S. 673, 679 (1986).

The Confrontation Clause only guarantees "an opportunity for effective cross-examination, not cross-examination that is effective in whatever way, and to whatever extent, the defense might wish." Delaware v. Fensterer, 474 U.S. 15, 20 (1985). Even evidence that may be relevant to an affirmative defense should be excluded until the defendant sufficiently establishes that defense through affirmative evidence presented during his own case-in-chief. See United States v. Lin, 101 F.3d 760, 768 (D.C. Cir. 1996) (acknowledging trial court has discretion to limit cross-examination on prejudicial matters without reasonable grounding in fact); United States v. Sampol, 636 F.2d 621, 663-64 (D.C. Cir. 1980) (holding that trial court properly limited cross-examination of alleged CIA murder scheme until defense put forth sufficient evidence of the affirmative defense in its case-in-chief); United States v. Stamp, 458 F.2d 759, 773 (D.C. Cir. 1971) (finding trial court properly excluded cross examination of government's witness with response to matter only related to an affirmative defense and not elicited through direct exam). Preventing the defendant from exploring the topics identified above will not infringe his Confrontation Clause right because those topics are not relevant to an element at issue in the case, provide no basis for impeaching the Secret Service witness, and do not implicate any affirmative defense.

II. Cross-Examination of Secret Service Witnesses Should Be Limited to Whether the Capitol was Restricted on January 6, 2021 and the Riot's Effect on their Functions

To prove the charges, the government intends to offer limited testimony about the Secret Service's protection of certain officials on January 6, 2021. First, to establish a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 231(c)(3), the government must prove, among other things, that a civil disorder interfered with a federally protected function. 18 U.S.C. § 231(c)(3); United States v. Red Feather, 392 F. Supp. 916, 918-19 (D. S.D. 1975). A "federally protected function" includes any lawful function, operation, or action by a federal agency or officer. 18 U.S.C. § 232(3). Thus, the government must prove that the January 6 breach interfered with a federal agency or federal officer's performance of lawful duties. To meet this element, the government intends to offer the testimony that pursuant to authority under 18 U.S.C. § 3056(a)(1), on January 6, 2021, Secret Service agents were at the Capitol to protect Vice President Mike Pence and two members of his immediate family. A Secret Service official is further expected to explain how the events at the Capitol on that date affected the Secret Service's ability to protect Vice President Pence and his family.

To prove Counts Ten and Eleven, which charge violations of § 1752(a)(2) and (4), the government must prove that the Capitol and its grounds were "restricted" because the Vice President and his family were present there and being protected by the Secret Service. See 18 U.S.C. § 1752(c)(1)(B) (defining restricted buildings and grounds).

Cross-examination of Secret Service witnesses about extraneous matters beyond the scope of direct examination should be excluded as irrelevant or unduly prejudicial. But the Secret Service's general protocols about relocation for safety should be excluded as irrelevant because such evidence does not tend to make a fact of consequence more or less probable. Fed. R. Evid. 401 (defining relevant evidence). Similarly, evidence of the nature of Secret Service protective details is not relevant in this case. The number or type of assigned agents on a protective detail does not alter the probability that the Capitol and its grounds were restricted at the time. None of the other elements to be proven, or available defenses, implicates further testimony from the Secret Service.

Even assuming the evidence to be excluded is marginally relevant, such relevance is substantially outweighed by the danger of confusion of the issues, mini-trials, undue delay, and waste of time. See United States v. Mohammed, 410 F. Supp. 2d 913, 918 (S.D. Cal. 2005) (finding that information having broader national security concerns can be excluded under Rule 403 because its tendency to confuse the issues, mislead the jury, create side issues or a mini-trial can result in undue prejudice that substantially outweighs any probative value). Broader cross-examination of Secret Service witnesses could compromise national security without adding any appreciable benefit to the determination of the truth, or the veracity or bias of witnesses. Id.

III. The Government Requests an In Camera Proceeding to Determine the Admissibility of Certain Evidence

If this court determines that a hearing is necessary to determine the admissibility of testimony by a witness from the Secret Service, the government requests the hearing be conducted in camera and ex parte. As noted, in this case, disclosure of certain information could prove detrimental to the Secret Service's ability to protect high-level government officials and affect our national security. Courts have found such considerations justify ex parte, in camera proceedings. See Gilmore v. Palestinian Interim Self-Gov't Auth., 843 F.3d 958, 968 (D.C. Cir. 2016) (finding that while ex parte proceedings should be employed to resolve discovery disputes only in extraordinary circumstances, they are appropriate where disclosure could lead to substantial adverse consequences, such as where a party sought intelligence materials generated in the midst of a geopolitical conflict); United States v. Nixon, 418 U.S. 683, 714 (1974) (affirming district court's order for in camera inspection of subpoenaed presidential materials); United States v. Kampiles, 609 F.2d 1233, 1248 (7th Cir. 1979) ("It is settled that in camera ex parte proceedings to evaluate bona fide Government claims regarding national security information are proper."); In re Taylor, 567 F.2d 1183, 1188 (2d Cir. 1977) (finding that in camera proceedings "serve to resolve, without disclosure, the conflict between the threatened deprivation of a party's constitutional rights and the Government's claim of privilege based on the needs of public security."); United States v. Brown, 539 F.2d 467, 470 (5th Cir. 1976) (per curiam) (same).

CONCLUSION

For these reasons, the United States requests that this court enter an order, as described above, limiting cross-examination of any witness with the Secret Service. If this court determines an evidentiary hearing is necessary to rule on this motion, the government asks that the hearing be held in camera and ex parte.
