

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

v.

Case No. 21-CR-175-2 (TJK)

JOSEPH RANDALL BIGGS, et al.,

Defendants.

DEFENDANT BIGGS' MOTION TO BE PROVIDED A LAPTOP COMPUTER TO REVIEW DISCOVERY MATERIALS AT THE ALEXANDRIA DETENTION CENTER

On March 10, 2022 the United States Marshals Service (USMS) transported defendant Biggs from a Seminole County, Florida jail to the Alexandria Detention Center, Alexandria, Virginia (ADC). As the Court is aware, the volume of pretrial discovery materials in this January 6 action is unusually large. A major reason for transporting Biggs to the Washington, D.C. area was to enable him to review discovery in a facility with the technological capability for him to do that. At the ADC, Biggs has some increased ability to review discovery with his counsel present but still lacks a laptop computer or other device on which to store discovery and review it when his counsel is not present. Accordingly, defendant Biggs asks the Court for an Order directing the USMS to provide him with a laptop computer to be supplied by his counsel and which meets the security protocols of the ADC. A proposed order is attached.

Respectfully submitted,

COUNSEL FOR JOSEPH R. BIGGS
