Dear Mr. Keller:

On behalf of our team at the Prison Professors Charitable Corporation, please accept this letter of gratitude for the scores of hours you've spent volunteering with us. We've taken the lesson plan you created and formatted the lesson for distribution in jails and prisons across America.

We'll also use your lesson plan as a resource for the training we do to help formerly incarcerated people transition into the labor market. Please Use the following link to access online version of the course you helped us create:

- » Teaching People in Prison
- » Through our program, more than 100,000 people in jails and prison will have access to your course.

You've been honest in speaking with us about the remorse you feel for your crime, and your hopes to contribute to society in ways to make amends. We also know that you face a sentencing hearing. Although we understand that a judge will have complete discretion, it's our hope that opportunities exist for community service as an alternative to incarceration. If so, we hope that you would consider serving our nonprofit.

We appreciate the time, energy, and support you've given to our program. If authorities will authorize, we would be grateful if you could continue working with us while you're serving your sanction.

To confirm, we're an IRS approved 501c3 with the following identification number:

- » Prison Professors Charitable Corporation
- » IRS Number: 85-2603315

Since 2009, our team has worked to build safer communities. We create programs to teach and inspire people in prison, at-risk youth, and we open employment opportunities for formerly incarcerated people. Your background as a job creator helps our mission in meaningful ways, and makes a huge impact on the people we serve.

Thank you for the time you devoted to help us develop a self-directed learning course for vulnerable populations. People who enroll in our program will benefit from the contributions you've made. Your efforts will go a long way toward building safer communities, and to improving opportunities for participants to live as contributing, law-abiding citizens.

Administrators in jails and prisons have tasked us with creating new coursework specifically for people in jails and prisons. Those people have a particularly difficult time finding employment because of their criminal history. Our entire society benefits when leaders like you provide guidance in job training.

We appreciate your offer to continue helping us develop coursework that we distribute. As we discussed, in addition to creating new digital coursework, we need assistance with:

- » Creating more teaching lessons for people in jails and prisons, and for the employment training programs we're creating.

People in prison are more in need than ever of the self-directed digital content we provide. Please continue with your contributions to helping us develop additional lesson plans that we can use to help others. To confirm what we've discussed during our conversations, the following agencies use our digital learning programs:

- » Every state prison in the state of California
- » United States Penitentiary, Atwater, CA
- » Federal Correctional Institution, Victorville, CA
- » United States Penitentiary, Florence, CO
- » Federal Holding Center, Mecklenburg County Jail
- » Edovo Tablets

The following links will show testimonials we've received from law enforcement officers, or people that administer programs in jails and prison. Those PDF links show how we're working to improve outcomes of America's prison system. We could not make this impact on society without your contributions:

- » Federal Bureau of Prisons
- » California Department of Corrections
- » Washington State Department of Corrections
- » Edovo Tablets that Publish our Content

When the time comes for you to interact with a probation officer, please show the contributions you've helped us create. We create new digital content every day. Some of the specific projects we could use assistance with, in addition to the work you've already completed, includes:

- » Developing new coursework to teach more people from vulnerable populations, especially young men and women.
- » Helping to coordinate regular mailing to jail and prison administrators.
- » Identifying potential employers that will participate with our educational programming.
- » Content management for the coursework we create.

We will be grateful for any amount of time that you can devote to this project. While serving your sanction, we will benefit from your continued leadership.

As soon as you have clarity with regard to your availability, please let us know. We will begin assigning tasks and measuring hours. To complete these tasks, you will work remotely, so you will need access to a telephone and a computer with Internet connectivity.

Thank you, again, for the time you've donated to the Prison Professors Charitable Corporation.

We appreciate the generous contributions of time that you've made so far, and we look forward to you joining us as a fulltime team member at the soonest possibility.

Sincerely,

Michael Santos

Dear Michael,

Our team at Edovo would like to extend our sincerest gratitude to you and the Prison Professors Charitable Corporation. At no cost to Edovo, you've invested thousands of hours to create and publish learning materials that provide justice-impacted people with invaluable content. We distribute the Prison Professors' content to incarcerated learners, using the Edovo educational platform.

We've been working with you and the Prison Professors team for more than four years. During that time, we've relied upon the "Straight-A Guide" and "Mastermind" courses to help people understand the importance of using time in custody to prepare for success upon release. Our students are now accessing new courses that Prison Professors published on personal leadership, with extensive lessons from:

- Jeffrey Gallups
- Mossimo Giannulli
- Joseph DeGregorio
- Bill McGlashan

Each day, more than 100,000 incarcerated men and women can now benefit from the self-directed learning courses that Prison Professors publishes. We're looking forward to building a research design that will allow us to collect data to show the impact we're having; we're counting on Prison Professors to continue as a strategic partner, producing more self-directed learning courses.

The collaboration and expertise that Michael Santos brings with Prison Professors has immense impact, inspiring thousands to build pathways that will lead them to law-aiding, contributing lives.

We are eager to expand our partnership with Michael Santos and Prison Professors. Together, we will develop free educational, vocational, and rehabilitative content to the incarcerated population throughout the USA. We're proud of our collaboration with Prison Professors. Together, we're able to help more justice-impacted people prepare for successful reentry.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Santos

I'm writing on behalf of the students that are currently participating in the initial class of the "Straight-A Guide" at Stafford Creek Corrections Center. We are scheduled to complete the program on December 31st 2015.

The class has expressed a strong desire to formally invite you to the graduation ceremony that will be taking place at the facility on January 15th 2015. Most of the current participants were present when you visited the site in January of 2014 and feel it is important that you witness the first cycle of what you envisioned as well as provide an opportunity for them to personally thank you for the profound effect that the program has had in their lives.

We would be honored by your presence and would love to share some of the realizations that we have come to by participating in this program.

Sincerely,
