Great! Thanks, Nicki.

If one does a WHOIS search on the domain using (<https://lookup.icann.org/lookup>) one can find registration activity about that site. I attach the results. That indicates that the domain was registered with godaddy on October 6, 2021 (i.e., yesterday, which is...coincidentally...the day of Rehl's filing). The site was registered using an IP address that resolves to Virginia, which is, coincidentally, the location of Rehl's lawyer.

It might be useful to issue a [REDACTED] to godaddy to get additional information about the registration of the site and who paid for it. We can discuss on the stand-up this morning or sometime today.

An interesting development.

Nope, I have not seen or heard anything about this. I know he had started (or asked [REDACTED] to start) a fundraiser page for himself to help with legal fees but I have not heard anything about a supporting the police page. I'll ask [REDACTED] if he's tracking anything too.
