

THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

v.

JONATHAN DANIEL POLLOCK, et. al.

Case No.: 1:21-cr-00447-CJN-2

---

UNOPPOSED MOTION FOR AN EXTENSION OF TIME TO FILE
PROPOSED SCHEDULING ORDER

Comes Now Olivia Pollock, through counsel and moves this Court extend the time to file a Joint Proposed Scheduling Order from June 10, 2022, to June 24, 2022. During the last status hearing on May 5, 2022, the Court selected a trial date of January 30, 2023, for Joseph Daniel Hutchinson, III, Michael Steven Perkins and Olivia Pollock. The trial date was scheduled with the understanding that it would be penciled in and might have to be rescheduled due to undersigned already having another penciled in trial date of February 13, 2023, in another case.<sup>1</sup> Additionally, at that time the court set June 10, 2022, by which the parties submit a Joint Proposed Scheduling Order.

Recently a superseding indictment was filed in undersigned's February trial.<sup>2</sup> A status hearing in that case is scheduled for Friday, June 17, 2022. It is anticipated that during that hearing there will be a decision made as to whether the February trial date will stand or a new date for trial will be selected now that there are additional more serious charges. As any proposed dates in this case hinge upon undersigned's trial schedule in the other case, it is proposed that the Joint Proposed Scheduling Order be submitted after the June 17, 2022, status hearing.

---

<sup>1</sup> United States v. Rey Rivera Ruiz et al., 1:21-cr-00270-JEB

<sup>2</sup> The Caption notes "Indictment" only, but it is the second indictment in the case.

Undersigned has communicated with the prosecution and counsel for the co-defendants in this case. All the parties concur that the requested extension is appropriate and do not oppose a proposed new date of June 24 for the filing of the pleading.

Respectfully submitted,
ELITA C. AMATO

/s/

---

Elita C. Amato, Esq.
2111 Wilson Blvd.
8th Floor
Arlington, VA 22201
Tele: 703-522-5900
Amato@amatoatlaw.com

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I hereby certify that this Motion was served upon all parties in this case by ECF notification on this 2th day of June, 2022.

_____
/s/Elita C. Amato