2020-11-03	Connor	T01:54:25Z	I support President Trump because he is the anti-politician who can't be bought, thinks outside the box, achieves real results and speaks honestly. That's exactly what you don't get from corrupt career-politicians like Joe Biden. You can't count on anything he says because he lies and the media doesn't hold him accountable. It's the same with most Democrats. Hillary Clinton and Joe Biden are part of the DC swamp and the less political power those people hold, the better off our country will be. The Democrat party is experiencing a cold civil war between the almost-extinct moderates and the socialists. If Democrats win tomorrow, the far left socialists win and the party will continue to move towards the far left. If they lose, they'll be forced to go back towards the center and probably have a civil war over it. So at the most basic level, this election is about whether the voters like or dislike how extreme the Democrat party has become. Joe is a placeholder. Kamala is the real candidate and she's further left than Bernie, if you look at her Senate voting record. I hope the President gets #fourmoreyears because there needs to be accountability for the deep state and everything they tried to do to remove him from office. If that doesn't happen, I'm afraid the country will be lost because Barr and Durham will be forced to close their investigations down and Democrats will sweep all their crimes under the rug, like it was supposed to happen in 2016, had Hillary won. Once in power again, Democrats are ready to move quickly to do everything they possibly can to make sure no Republican is ever elected to office again, especially in border states and swing states. That's assuming they don't abolish the electoral college altogether like they've been talking about doing the last few years.

2020-11-09	Connor	T18:55:07Z	(From election night) — Start of video Pennsylvania total votes are: Trump 1,690,589 Biden 1,252,537 At the end of the video (40 seconds later) the totals on the screen are: Trump 1,670,631. -19,958 Biden 1,272,495. +19,958 What a strange coincidence! 🙄 (The CNN portion of this video was not edited, it was taken on election night. This change / swing in vote totals took place LIVE on CNN within a span of 40 seconds). If there's an explanation for this, I would love to hear it. Anyone? Was it a "glitch"? @realdonaldtrump @donaldjtrumpjr @erictrump @laraleatrump @the typical liberal @dc draino

2020-11-12	Ferrigno	T13:05:14Z	Joe Biden's (D) lead in Arizona continues to shrink, dipping below 13,000 following Maricopa County's latest drop. The former vice president's lead in Arizona dropped to 12,813 Tuesday evening after Maricopa County's latest report. According to Data Orbital, the county's latest report included 5,291 votes, with 56.4 percent going to Trump and 41.8 percent going to Biden. Pinal County also posted additional results on Tuesday, showing Trump taking 63.3 percent of the 910 ballots counted: Roughly 46,700 ballots remain outstanding in the Grand Canyon state, 22,400 of which come from Maricopa County. According to the Arizona Republic, Trump would need to take 64 percent of the remaining votes in order to take Biden's lead and the state's 11 electoral votes. Trump fell short of that percentage in the latest drops but has reduced the former vice president's lead by over 4,100 votes in the last three days alone. On Monday, Arizona Senate President Karen Fann (R) called for an "independent analysis" in response to the mounting suspicions of voting irregularities and fraud. "Assuming the allegations of fraud are without merit, an independent analysis would help to restore credibility and hopefully end the current controversy over fairness in the election process in Arizona," she wrote in a letter to Secretary of State Katie Hobbs (D). "If there's no factual basis on any of these things, then absolutely, let's put that to rest and show them that's not true," she said on Wednesday. "If there's something there that needs to be fixed, let's fix it." However, Hobbs told Fann that her request would simply amplify the voices of "those seeking to undermine our democratic process for political gain."

2020-11-20	Ferrigno	T20:55:29Z	🔴 They don't call him China Joe for nothing 🔴 Obey Beijing, do not challenge China's assumed economic superiority and open your domestic markets without restraint: these are the three key instructions for Joe Biden issued in an op-ed published Sunday by the Global Times, official propaganda mouthpiece of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP). The piece outlines

			China's vision of the future under a compliant Joe Biden administration, stating from the beginning the CCP wants a "partnership" that is "categorically different" than that offered by U.S. President Donald Trump. "Biden is, irrevocably, the 46th US president," the editorial offers without evidence, before outlining just why the two countries should combine their resources in fighting the coronavirus epidemic. To that end the Global Times maintains that supine America is a good America, warning its friend Joe Biden, "Demonizing China or slinging dirt on Chinese people will never help to stop the flare-up of infections and fatalities in America." "China's experiences are impressive in curtailing the pandemic, and China's unparalleled ability in manufacturing PPEs and producing vaccine vials and freezers should not be neglected and could be made use of by the Biden government," it adds. As to the economic realities facing the two countries, the piece gets straight to the point: It says China's economy is growing at a "sizzling pace" and if the U.S. wants to be part of that, it should comply with Beijing. It says the "selfish" doctrine of America First must end, advising: Economic confrontations with China chosen by Trump's team failed to do the US, or any country in this world, any good. The buying power of Chinese businesses and Chinese households should never be diminished or looked down upon. Australia and Canada, the two hardcore allies of the US who are very unfriendly toward China, have received a bitter lesson from Beijing. Don't trample on Chinese people's bottom lines, otherwise they will bite back.

2021-01-06	Lunyk	T20:57:59Z	I'm actually here and nobody attacked the police, when we got into the capital building they let us browse around and stuff they were mad cool, the people that took it too far and provoked the police (2 people) got shot, which serves them right we didn't come here to violate like that, but when antifa was physically burning cities to the ground nobody batted an eye👁️ just food for thought
2021-01-06	Lunyk	T21:04:52Z	Well we got cheated and I understand the people frustration but I agree that destroying shit shouldn't happen, and the police shouldn't have been provoked
