UNITED STATES' SUPPLEMENT TO MOTION FOR EMERGENCY STAY AND FOR REVIEW AND APPEAL OF RELEASE ORDER

On May 27, 2022, the United States filed its Motion for Emergency Stay and for Review and Appeal of the order, entered in the District of Colorado, to release defendant Rodney Milstreed pretrial. Dkt. No. 5. At the time of that filing, the transcript of the detention hearing, held earlier that same day, was not yet available. With this Supplement, the government submits a copy of the transcript. See Exhibit B, Transcript of Detention Hearing, D. Colo. Case No. 22-mj-0093 (May 27, 2022).

With this supplement, the government also submits further details about weapons found at Milstreed's Maryland home on May 24, 2022, during a search warrant executed by the FBI. As noted in the government's Motion, agents found a cache of firearms strewn out on a bed in a spare room. Mtn. at 30. But the stash of firearms at Milstreed's home was not limited to just this collection. Agents found firearms in locations throughout the home. And although Milstreed's residence had two large gun safes, the assault weapons and accessories described in the government's Motion were not secured out of reach or safely locked away.¹ Photographs taken by agents at the search site are attached. See Exhibit 36 (excerpt of photographs taken at Milstreed’s Maryland residence during execution of search on May 24, 2022).

Finally, the government submits additional details of the injectable steroids found at Milstreed’s Colorado hotel during a simultaneous search warrant executed on May 24, 2022. Among the presumptively controlled substances and paraphernalia found there were vials labeled “British Dragon” Pharmaceuticals-branded Decabal 250 (nandrolone decanoate), trestolone acetate, and Hygetropin human growth hormone. (No testing has yet been performed by federal agents.) Photographs of these seized items are attached. See Exhibit 37 (excerpt of photographs taken at Milstreed’s Colorado hotel during execution of search on May 24, 2022).

Respectfully submitted,
