The Honorable Judge Randolph Moss:

I'm writing this letter to express my admiration and appreciation for the character of Duncan Massie.

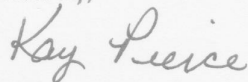

The qualities I address are more a result of my dealing with the Massie children. I came to know Duncan and the Massie family as members of our church. We've attended church together for about twenty years. During this time, the Massie family has grown! When they first came to our church, Duncan and his wife had three little boys. Through the years, they've had two more sons and two daughters. We've rejoiced with them with the birth of each of their children.

I've been a teacher in Children's Ministry for over forty years in three different churches. I've learned you can tell much about parents by getting to know their children. Without exception, the Massie's are among the most well behaved and respectful children I have taught. I know the teaching and example they've received at home is responsible for this.

Conversations with Duncan always prove to be insightful. He is knowledgeable and intelligent. His love and dedication to his children is evident. He is a caring, hands-on dad. He takes interest and delight in his children, and now grandchildren!

I've seen the Massie family go through hardships and prosperity. Whatever the situation, Duncan rises to the occasion with integrity proving himself to be an honest, hard working, God-fearing man I am proud to call my friend.

Sincerely,
