

To the Honorable Judge Randolph D. Moss,

I, Hunter Weisman, am writing this letter on behalf of my stepfather, Luke Faulkner.

When I was one year old, he took me in and treated me like his very own son. I've always been able to call on him any time, day or night and he's always shown up to help. He has supported and guided me throughout my life. Throughout school, he would always take me out to buy a suit for every dance I attended. Throughout motocross, where he would come home on a Friday after a long week of work just to drive me 3-6 hours away for my next race. And now today, as a married 24-year-old who is expecting a second child. He taught me how to be a man through not only his work ethic, but by the way he has treated my mother. I have never seen him raise his voice to my mother and he has always supported and loved her, setting a great example of what a husband should be. I've seen him selflessly give away vehicles to people in need & open his home to friends in need for days & even weeks at a time. I've watched him work himself literally to the point of exhaustion trying to provide for his family that he loves dearly.

He's a man that I continue to model myself after as I strive to live up to his example of a Godly father, husband, and extremely hard worker. He is a man that I am proud to call my father and is someone I know I can always count on. As we near the final verdict, I hope that you are able to see & consider these examples multiple people have provided on my father's character.

Sincerely,
Hunter Weisman.
