

To the honorable Judge Randolph D. Moss,

I, Skyler Green, am writing this letter on behalf of my father, Luke Faulkner.

Growing up, my dad supported me in all I did. He continues to do so every single day. He has encouraged me through every decision I've made from going through hair school, to dental assisting classes, to becoming a stay at home wife and mother. We have shared countless unforgettable experiences together. From concerts, to staying up late, getting milkshakes, and making each other laugh until we can hardly catch a breath. He would take me dress shopping for every single dance I attended, and knowing how important it was to the both of us, he ended up being the one to pick out the most perfect wedding dress for me. He did all of these things and so much more with no complaints, only patience, joy and love in his heart.

My dad has always gone above and beyond in providing for both family and friends. Through watching him and my mother together I learned how a man should treat a woman and what to look for in a man. No matter the changes in life, I've always found my father right by my side. He has shown so much love and support to my husband, our daughter, and myself. He has shown compassion to others in many ways. I watched him, without hesitation, help with a motorcycle accident using articles of his own clothing to tend to injuries while help was on the way. He has provided a space for friends to call home while they were in need. These examples are just a glance at his selflessness. I will also note the tenderness he has shown, as he wrote a song for my husband and I that he surprised us with on our wedding day. In addition to that he attended my daughter's birth, the love and support he provided through that is unimaginable. I will forever cherish these things.

In conclusion, he is a morally sound man, I've witnessed his benevolence first hand. He has been the best example of what a Godly father should be, a wonderful and loving partner to my mother, a devout member of our church and lover of God. As well as a loving grandfather to my 5 month old daughter, as they are very close and likewise with his other grandbabies. He is a hard worker, he is loved and well respected all around. I find myself the most blessed to have him as my dad. I hope there is room for grace, compassion, and mercy in your heart. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely, Skyler Green
